Guyana Base Station Site

Overview

The Guiana Space Centre (as per CNES) also contains the Îles du Salut, a former penal colony including the infamous Devil's Island. Now a tourist site, the islands are under the launching trajectory for geosynchronous orbit and have to be evacuated during launches.

The Guiana Space Centre (French: Centre spatial guyanais; CSG), also called Europe's Spaceport, is a to the northwest of in , an of in . Kourou is located.

Launch safetyFire safety is ensured by a detachment of the , a branch of the . Security around the base is ensured by forces, assisted by the .

The space sector was responsible for about 15% of French Guiana's GDP in 2014, around half of the 28% it was in 1990. This reduction.

In 1964, Guiana was selected to become the spaceport of France, replacing France's first launch site in .

The location of the space centre was selected based on various factors. One of the primary benefits of this spaceport is its proximity to the , which makes it more efficient.

As of 28 December 2024As of 2017 , Kourou counts amongst the spaceports with the highest percentage of successful launches, both successive and overall. Here is a chronology of all orbital launches from the Kourou spaceport since 1970, under the.

What is the Guiana Space Centre (CSG)?

The Guiana Space Centre (or CSG) is one of the spaceports in the world that receives the most traffic, and it receives large amounts of funding from the European Space Agency (ESA), with the organisation covering around 66% of the spaceport's annual budget, as well as financing new facilities.

Why is Guiana Space Centre a good place to launch a rocket?

The near-equatorial location of the Guiana Space Centre offers an advantage for launches to low- inclination or geostationary Earth orbits, as rockets can be launched into orbits with an inclination of as low as 6°.

Is Guyana shore base a spinoff of oil & gas?

“Not all will be oil and gas, the spinoffs will be significant and that is what we are looking at,” the PSC President posited. Shore base services are currently being provided to the oil and gas industry by Guyana Shore Base Inc and the Vreed-en-Hoop Shorebase Inc.

Why is Guiana Space Centre important?

The Guiana Space Centre was established in 1964, chosen for its proximity to the equator, which provides a significant performance boost for rockets due to the Earth's rotational speed. The spaceport officially began operations in 1968, marking the start of Europe's independent access to space.
