What is a wabi sabi patio?

Time-Worn Patios in a Wabi Sabi garden celebrate the beauty of weathered stone and aged brick. These materials are chosen for their ability to improve with age, acquiring a patina that adds character to the garden. The patios serve as a testament to the passage of time, each mark and mossy patch telling a story.

What is asymmetrical Oasis wabi sabi?

The Asymmetrical Oasis Wabi Sabi garden embraces irregular shapes and layouts to create a visually interesting space. This garden avoids traditional symmetry in favor of a more organic, flowing design. Plants are allowed to grow freely, with paths curving gently around natural features.

What is raw beauty retreat in a wabi sabi garden?

Raw Beauty Retreat in a Wabi Sabi garden focuses on the unrefined, natural state of garden elements. This garden features rugged boulders, untreated wood, and wild native plants. It's a space that respects and showcases the inherent beauty of each material and plant, just as they are.

What is calm canopy in a wabi sabi garden?

Calm Canopy in a Wabi Sabi garden focuses on creating a peaceful overhead shelter using tree branches and leafy crowns. This garden invites visitors to look up and appreciate the natural canopy that filters sunlight and provides shelter.

What is natural whimsy in a wabi sabi garden?

Natural Whimsy in a Wabi Sabi garden brings a playful, light-hearted feel to the space with elements like winding ivy over archways and whimsical sculptures from natural materials. This garden style invites visitors to appreciate the spontaneous and unexpected turns of nature.
